

Health Care Projects

With decades of experience in health care construction and renovation, R.D. Johnson Construction has the expertise you need to complete any project. Our full-service construction management and general contracting firm can accomplish any job, large or small. Whether it's a new medical building, a state-of-the-art addition, or a stealth interior renovation, our dedicated team has the knowledge to accommodate all your construction needs.

We are proud to share recent examples of health care projects we have completed, including hospitals, outpatient facilities and private physicians.

Additionally, our team has the experience and resources to work efficiently within an occupied facility, ensuring a minimal impact to patients and staff. We are happy to share references that can testify to their experience working with us, as well as additional examples of health care projects we have completed.
